Help bring a Drug Addiction: Real People, Real Stories Exhibition to your state!

INTO LIGHT Project Ambassadors are part of a national network of volunteer representatives from each state in the U.S. who are interested in helping us to change the conversation about drug addiction and reduce stigma by bringing an INTO LIGHT Project Exhibit to their state.

Who can become an Ambassador?

Anyone with an interest in promoting the work of INTO LIGHT Project and who has a passion for educating the public about substance use disorder and reducing the stigma that families and the individual with SUD experience.

What role do Ambassadors play in promoting INTO LIGHT Project?

INTO LIGHT Project gets many requests from people across the U.S. to bring an exhibit to their state. It is necessary to enlist the help of people on the ground in each state to help us promote the project and suggest viable locations in which to hold the exhibit and brainstorm where we might find funds to cover the cost of the exhibition. We also depend on Ambassadors to help with recruitment of submissions and promote the exhibition.

If you have an interest in becoming an ambassador for your state, contact us at <https://intolightproject.org/contact/>. We will arrange a call and send you more detailed information on how we can collaborate.

Thanks for your interest.
